

Statement of Purpose

As someone who is deeply passionate about entrepreneurship and business, my goal is to pursue an undergraduate degree in business administration and economics abroad. I am certain that studying in a diverse, innovative and culturally focused environment will broaden my perspective of the business world and equip me with the essential skills, knowledge, and experience that I need to take on the challenges of the global economy.

Having grown up in a family of entrepreneurs, I have been fascinated by the world of business ever since I was young. From spotting the gaps in the market and identifying flaws in other business projects, I have developed an analytical and critical mindset that is essential to achieve success in the business world. I also have hands-on experience in developing and managing projects, such as managing food stall in a competition held in high school, leading my team to success in raising money for charity, and also, offering football training to young teenagers to learn how to function a small service related business by creating a marketing strategy, and evaluating financial implications, which I believe is essential in today's competitive market.

Through my research of the undergraduate programs available abroad, I am convinced that the curriculum offered will suit my interests and provide me with practical knowledge that I can apply to real-life situations. Additionally, studying abroad will be an opportunity for me to learn from experienced professors, allow me to network with international peers to expand my worldview, and develop cultural intelligence.

I am confident that the business-oriented undergraduate program will not only fulfill my academic goals but also support my aspirations of becoming a successful entrepreneur. As a passionate and diligent student, I am committed to achieving academic excellence and making a positive impact on society through my actions. Therefore, I am eager to explore new challenges, experiences, and possibilities that studying abroad can offer me.
